START TO DENVER; GET TO PALMA BEFORE CAPTURE

Two Boys Try to Emulate Example of Moving Picture Show Bandit.

Dr. Hearne's Automobile is Overtaken.

YOUTH IN JUVENILE COURT.

Inspired by the achievements of a moving picture show bandit, Lincoln Burkhardt, 16 years old, and Clyde Oliver, 14 years old, took a joy ride at the expense and worry of Dr. E. E. Hearne Saturday night when they assumed possession of his Maxwell runabout, No. 50, left standing in front of Oehlshlaeger's drug store, Sixth street and Broadway, and headed out the Benton road, Burkhardt at the helm.

Both lads were caught yesterday afternoon a short distance from Palma, worn out and willing to return home and be good. After a severe lecture both were set free and Burkhardt was placed on probation for his future good behavior.

When Dr. Hearne came down from his office about 9:30 o'clock Saturday night his machine was missing and he decided that he had been made the victim of a malicious prank. He notified the police and all patrolmen were instructed to keep a lookout for the machine. Efforts to locate it that night were futile.

The two lads, said to have made up their minds to drive to Denver, struck the Benton road and passed Palma, 18 miles from Paducah, sometime that night or Sunday morning. When they reached a steep hill beyond Palma the clutch failed to respond and they turned back for Paducah. At Palma about 9 o'clock yesterday morning they were questioned as to who owned the machine, and when residents there threatened to telephone to Paducah, the two boys fled into the woods. License Inspector Phillips was notified and he told Chief of Police Sinsigley. Dr. Hearne was then informed of the whereabouts of his auto and accompanied by Messrs. Roy McKinney and A. J. Campbell, drove to Palma, where Dr. Hearne took charge of his machine and came home.

On the way back, Mr. McKinney spied the two boys walking towards the city. They were bundled up in the machine and taken to police headquarters at 5 o'clock.

The Oliver boy was given a sound lecture by Night Captain John Dorian and he promised to be better hereafter. The Burkhardt lad was taken before County Judge Barkley this morning and released on condition that he lead the simple life hereafter. The boys had taken 19 extra gallons of gasoline with them and had they managed to get over the hill beyond Palma they doubtless would have left many miles behind by today. The machine was slightly injured.

1812 Heroes Honored.

London, June 6.—The window placed in the village church at Princetown as a memorial for American prisoners of the war of 1812 was unveiled today. The church stands on Rartmoor, a bleak stretch of tableland in the southern part of Devonshire, and near the historic Dartmoor prison, where the American sailors were confined. It recently was restored by Americans, who also purchased the memorial window. The original stone chapel of Princetown was erected by the labor of the men, the memory of whom is preserved in the newer structure.

AMERICAN SOLDIER OF FORTUNE MAY BE SAFE.

New Orleans, June 6.—Cables here from Port Limon express doubt as to whether William Pittman, the American with Estrada's forces in Nicaragua, has been captured by Madriz's army. The story is that he has escaped. It is believed Zelaya is financing the Madriz army. Madriz refused the proposal of Estrada to allow the United States to mediate in the trouble.

It is believed that if Estrada were sure Pittman was in the hands of the enemy he would make an official report to Washington, making political capital of the incident.

Bluefields, Nicaragua, June 6.—A statement was issued by Estrada today that his peace offer to the Madriz faction will hold good for a limited period. If a satisfactory reply is not forthcoming he will direct his campaign against Managua.

Railroad Presidents Calling on Taft Today to Urge Him to Relent in His Prosecution of Tariff Case

Say No Combination in Legal Sense, Small Advance and Securities Are Hurt by Delay Caused by Suits.

Washington, June 6.—Three railroad presidents, E. H. Ripley, of the Santa Fe; S. M. Felton, of the Great Western, and F. A. Delano, of the Wabash, arrived here today with President Taft this afternoon to protest against the government's suit, blocking the increase of freight rates in the Mississippi river territory. Delano said they would try to convince the president that the railroads hadn't changed the practice in vogue for fourteen years. He denied that the presidents of the roads acted secretly. He said the shippers have been given proper notice. Attorney General Wickersham today primed President Taft with the government's side of the case.

It was learned on good authority that arguments of the railroad presidents before President Taft will be the increased tariffs effect only a minute part of the freight service; there was no agreement between the railroads in a legal sense; the present uncertainty of the situation is disastrous to the credit of the roads, and is undermining the value of securities.

CANNON AND SHERMAN MUST PAY AUTO KEEP.

Washington, June 6.—A deadlock developed today between the branches of congress on the question of having the government pay for the keeping of Vice-President Sherman's and Cannon's automobiles. An effort will be made to get an appropriation into the executive bill this session. The house is against it and the senate for it. It was referred to the conference committee, which is unable to agree, and now it is probable Sherman and Cannon will have to pay the expenses.

TEDDY'S FRIEND TO BE ELEVATED

THE POLITICAL INFLUENCE OF ROOSEVELT REACHES ENGLAND.

London, June 6.—Following Roosevelt's denunciation of British rule in Egypt in his Guild hall speech with the implied condemnation of the administration of Sir Eldon Gorst, today came the report that Gorst is shortly to be recalled and the report is generally accepted and credit given to the agitation arising from Roosevelt's speech. It is said Sir Francis Wingate, governor general of Sudan, will succeed Gorst. Wingate is Roosevelt's friend, George and Mary entertained the Roosevelts at luncheon today.

Roosevelt and Wingate became great friends while in Egypt. Wingate tendered his yacht to bring Roosevelt down the Nile from Gondokoro. It is believed Roosevelt is planning an active part in the contemplated changes in Egypt. Should a change take place it is certain there would be a storm of criticism based on the charge that Roosevelt is interfering in England's private affairs.

Kellner Inquest is Postponed One Day

Louisville, Ky., June 6.—(Special)—The inquest of Coroner Duncan over the remains of Alma Kellner was postponed till tomorrow or Wednesday. Duncan said he is unable to hold it today on account of the absence of witnesses and the failure of Dr. Robins to finish analyzing the supposed blood stains.

BIG HORSE SHOW. London, June 6.—The international horse show with more than 10,000 entries and $70,000 prizes opened at the Olympia today. Roosevelt was to have presided at the opening, but all ceremonial was dispensed with because of Edward's death. Ten nations, including the United States, are represented. The Americans are after the special prizes.

DISFIGURED BY JACK THE SLASHER

YOUNG ANDERSON ASSAULTED BY UNKNOWN PERSON IN STRANGE MANNER.

Clint Anderson, 18 years old, brother of Cleo Anderson, was attacked from behind at Wallace park about 9:30 o'clock last night and his face slashed beyond recognition.

Anderson was in company with several boy friends and went to the park to spend the evening. While walking over the grounds some unknown assailant approached from behind in a dark spot and with a sweep of his knife slashed Anderson's coat across the back. Anderson, who was taken by surprise, turned to defend himself and was slashed across the forehead, right cheek, nose, right hand and cut the breast. His clothes were cut into bits.

The unknown fled and escaped. Anderson was given temporary attention and placed on a car and hurried to the city by his companions. Dr. B. L. Bradley, dressed the wounds, several stitches being required. Anderson will no doubt be disfigured for life and it is thought that the purpose of his antagonist was only to leave marks on him and not kill him. Anderson says he has no idea who his assailant was and the police are conducting an investigation. He was weak today from the loss of blood, but no serious results are expected. The wounds are very painful and his head is swathed in bandages.

Her Savings Stolen. Laura Parker, colored, 320 South Second street, reported to the police this morning that her savings, amounting to $12 were stolen from her trunk about 6:30 o'clock this morning. The police are working on a clue.

ANNUAL CONFERENCE OF THE EPWORTH LEAGUES

The annual conference of the Epworth league, Memphis district, came to a close at Murray, Ky., last Friday night after a session of two days. The next meeting will be held at Brownsville, Tenn., the Rev. J. W. Blackard, of Paducah, being in charge. Mrs. Eva Washburn, Miss Esther Bamberg and Mr. A. J. Bamberg returned Saturday after attending the conference. At the close an elaborate reception was tendered the delegates at the handsome Graham home in Murray.

Long is Confirmed

Washington, June 6.—The senate committee on judiciary confirmed the appointment of G. W. Long as marshal for the western district of Kentucky.

Firemen Drowned

New York, June 6.—Two firemen were killed and 25 injured, three fatally, in a fire today in a warehouse. Timothy Cotter, and William Healy were knocked unconscious and drowned in a pool of water in the building.

Hopkinsville, Ky., June 6.—(Special)—The body of Joe Crowe, one of the best known farmers in Benedictstown, was found hanging in his barn. He had been dead several days.

Foreigners on Their Guard.

Pekin, June 6.—The foreign legations notified foreign residents of Nanking in other towns not to relax their vigilance. It is believed that yesterday's peacefulness is for the purpose of throwing foreigners off their guard.

BACCALAUREATE TO CLASS OF 1910 HEARD LAST NIGHT

"Jesus, the Great Teacher" Subject of Dr. Burwell's Discourse.

Commencement Week Begins Auspiciously.

BEAUTIFUL SONGS ARE SUNG.

More people tried to crowd into the First Presbyterian church than the combined auditorium and church parlors could accommodate, to hear Dr. H. W. Burwell preach the baccalaureate sermon to the High school class of 1910. The church was beautifully decorated in green and flowers for the occasion, and seats were reserved for the graduates and the faculty and members of the school board.

Dr. Burwell preached on Jesus, the great teacher, emphasizing these qualities of the Savior, and pointing the class to the higher considerations of life at the outset of their careers. The Rev. W. A. Fite, pastor of the First Christian church, read the scriptures and pronounced the invocation.

Besides anthems by the regular church choir Miss Ann Bradshaw and Mr. Richard Scott sang beautiful solos.

Commencement Week.

Commencement week with all its joys for the sweet girl graduates is on, and everything was in a bustle today at the High school. The examinations began today, and will continue through Wednesday while the evenings will be occupied with social events for the graduates.

Last night the baccalaureate sermon, the first event of commencement week, was preached. Tonight Miss Pauline Hank will entertain the graduates at her home. Tuesday evening at the Three Links building the student body and the faculty will entertain the graduates with a reception-dance.

Wednesday night will be class day for the graduates. The exercises will be held at the High school auditorium by both divisions of the graduating class. The members of the January division will give an illustrated monologue for the first part of the class exercises. The entertainment is said to be unusually clever. It is supposed to be five years later when Miss May Bonds, one of the graduates receives a letter from each of her former classmates. It is entitled "Classmates of Mine," and is an original monologue written by Misses May Bonds, Elizabeth Weemer and Marjorie Flegle. As the reader, Miss May Bonds calls the name of each of her classmates they appear on the stage. The pictures represented are: "A little school girl," Miss Ellen Rutter; "An athlete girl," Miss Jessie Acker; "A prima donna," Miss Elizabeth Weemer; "Professor of Latin," Miss Alice Byrne; "A winter girl," Miss Marjorie Flegle; "A summer girl."

PRIVATE DALZELL HAS CLOSE CALL

OPPOSITION WILL CONTEST NOMINATION OF PITTSBURGH CONGRESSMAN.

Pittsburgh, Pa., June 6.—Dr. Robert Black, who alleges he won the race for the congressional nomination over Joseph (Private) Dalzell, stated today that he will demand a recount of the primary vote. According to the count Dalzell won in the Thirtieth district by 405. Dalzell is now chairman of the house rules committee. Black charges fraud. He declares his brother-in-law saw an election judge count five ballots for Dalzell that were cast for him. Dalzell will fight to maintain his position. It was the closest race in his 22 years in congress.

Cannon's Grasp on Gavel Will be Secure Remainder of Session; Insurgents Hesitate to Molest

Do Not Wish to Embarrass Themselves by Too Close Affiliation With Democrats --Conservation Fight.

Washington, June 6.—Speaker Cannon's job seems safe for the present. Insurgent Republicans in the house today practically decided that rather than try to unseat him, they will use him as a campaign issue next fall.

Insurgents believe there is a possibility that their constituencies may rebel against too much co-operation with Democrats. Also they fear that if the speaker's chair is declared vacant at the close of the session, the cry will be raised that the insurgents merely vented their spite on him because they felt the barbs of his pointed epithets. In furtherance of their propaganda for the rules reform. The dilemma in which the insurgent representatives from Iowa will be placed in the event of Cannon being ousted, also figured in the decision.

Conservation Fight.

Washington, June 6.—Conservation legislation in the senate and the postal savings bank bill in the house constitute the features of the congressional program for the week. The general opinion is that both of these measures will be voted on before Saturday night and that they will be sent to conference.

Party lines will be dissolved and new lines of insurgency developed in the senate in connection with the public land withdrawal bill. Some of the western members are preparing to make vigorous assaults on the Roosevelt-Garfield administration of the public domain, especially as regards the blanket withdrawals of large areas. It is not improbable that this course will lead to some bitter criticism of the more conservative policies of the Taft-Ballinger administration of the land laws.

The discussions will arise over the consideration of the administration bill, which already has passed the house, to authorize the president to withdraw public lands for purpose of classification for the protection of water power sites, for forest reserves and to prevent mineral lands from falling into the hands of monopolies.

Taft Bill Will Pass.

Many western senators, notably Senators Warren and Clark, of Wyoming, Hepburn and Borah, of Idaho, Carter, of Montana, and Hughes, of Colorado, express fear that the enactment of this measure would mark the return of the policy of "locking up" great tracts of land so that the western states might be deprived of the benefits that would accrue to them from their development.

On the other hand, the more radi-

JAILER PINCHED; LIFT DANGEROUS

CLARK WILL ASK GENERAL COUNCIL TO DISCARD PRISON "LIFT."

At the regular meeting of the general council tonight at the city hall, City Jailer James Clark will ask the council's permission to have the lower cage or "man killer" of the city hall elevator removed. Jailer Clark was caught in the cage last week and only by a miracle was he saved from being crushed to death. While he was in the lower cage looking the jail door the elevator started up and he was thrown out by the door, his right foot being caught between the elevator and top of the jail entrance. He was suspended at the ceiling. His cries were heard by Mr. Frank Dunn, the operator, and the elevator was brought to a sudden halt. When the grip on Mr. Clark's foot was released, he fell to the floor. The lower cage was built for the purpose of transferring prisoners to the jail, but owing to the danger in handling it it may be ordered removed.

Much regular business will come before the council tonight, including the allowance of salaries and accounts.

NOBLE MURDERESS. of Frau Von Schoenbeck Weber, of exalted birth and high rank, charge instigating the murder of her husband, Major Von Schoenbeck, Christmas, 1907, commenced today at Allenstein, Germany. It is alleged the woman used Captain Von Goeben to murder her husband, telling him she was mistreated. He has confessed.

ENGINEERS WILL INSPECT BRIDGE

ON THEIR RETURN WILL MEET WITH RIVERMEN HERE TOMORROW.

Col. J. G. Warren, chief of the board of engineers at Cincinnati, and other members of the board. Accompanied by Mr. C. S. Bookwalter, superintendent of the flating stock of the West Kentucky Coal company, will go to Metropolis on the harbor boat Harth to inspect the site for the proposed bridge for the Burlington railroad, with regard to the necessary width of the main channel span. The railroad gives a 550 foot span in the plans, while the coal companies are pulling for between 750 and 1,000 feet. Col. Warren will return late in the afternoon and tomorrow night he will meet river men at the Palmer house to discuss the situation. He will leave Wednesday morning at 11:20 o'clock for Cincinnati in order to be present for the bridge hearing set for Thursday morning at his office there.

Dr. Doxey Goes Free.

St. Louis, June 6.—That Dr. Loren Doxey, indicted jointly with his wife for the murder of William Erder, will be set free following the acquittal of Mrs. Doxey, is considered certain today. State's Attorney Jones held a conference with his assistants today. He indicated that the indictment against the doctor will be dismissed.

DIAMOND CASE IS PUZZLER OF COURT

JUDGE REED HIS DIFFICULTY IN DETERMINING THE OWNERSHIP.

Whose diamond stud is it? That is the question that is perplexing Circuit Judge William Reed in the suit of H. C. Partee against A. W. Vance over a handsome diamond stud, which has been the cause of litigation since last summer. Judge Reed announced this morning that he would decide the suit tomorrow morning, but said it is anything but an easy task with the evidence so conflicting. As a possible aid to him in reaching a decision, Judge Reed took the sparkler from former Deputy Sheriff Gus Rogers, who has been the custodian since the litigation began, and may consult the oracle. Captain Partee lost his diamond on the steamer Russell Lord last summer. All the local jewelers were warned to watch out for it. Several weeks later a diamond was given to Jeweler J. L. Wanner to reset. The detectives learned of it, and Mr. Vance established the claim that he purchased it from a pawn broker. Cohen stated that he purchased it in St. Louis and depositions taken there show that the stone had frequently been pawned to the Union Surety company for several years before it was finally sold to Cohen after the owner had failed to release it.

Captain Partee is just as positive that it is his lost diamond as Cohen is that he purchased it in St. Louis several weeks before Captain Partee complained of missing the stud. The diamond is the same setting that Captain Partee describes, and is of a peculiar shape.

HEAD AMBITIOUS FOR PREFERMENT, SAYS THE HERALD

Quotes from Letter Alleged to be Addressed to Charles K. Wheeler.

He Says He Has Not Been Approached.

THE LOUISVILLE SITUATION.

The Louisville Herald asserts that Mayor Head, of Louisville, is actively seeking the Democratic nomination for governor. It quotes from a letter supposed to have been sent by him to Hon. Charles K. Wheeler, of this city.

When seen by a reporter for the Evening Sun, however, Mr. Wheeler said that he has not been approached by Mr. Head, nor has heard from him in relation to the governorship or anything else.

"I know Mr. Head but slightly," said Mr. Wheeler. "We have met and that is all. I am not at all intimate with him or in his confidence. Neither Mr. Head nor any of his friends have seen me or written to me, asking me to support him for governor, nor have I promised anyone."

The Herald says: "I have redeemed Louisville and I want the honor of redeeming the state."

In these words and in others to much the same effect has Mayor W. O. Head told Democratic leaders in all parts of Kentucky that he is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor of Kentucky.

The new world he dreams of conquering he wants for himself. Here is another extract from one of the letters:

"I am not making the race for the benefit of Ben Johnson. I am in it for myself and in it to win."

It is said on reliable authority that the mayor's correspondence on the matter is more than bulky and that the boon it has been reported his friends were about to start for him has already grown to real and lusty proportions.

He is in the race, the doughty mayor is quoted as saying, in earnest, irrevocably and in it because he believes, and his supporters believe, he can win. He will not, however, publicly announce his candidacy until after the Sherley-Nowcomb primary, because he does not want to embarrass or retard the progress of either of those contending gentlemen.

The statements quoted preceding are from a letter written by Mayor Head to Charles Wheeler, a Democratic wheelhorse in the First district. Other similar letters have been indicted by him to other Democrats of worth and influence in the same district. Other parts of the state have not been neglected by the aspiring redemption mayor.

He has had much correspondence with Democratic bosses in Carroll county, Daviess county, too, it is given out, has fared as well as McCracken county. Henderson's true patriots have had his open bid for the nomination and his friends in that section are boosting his game. Democratic candidates for the governor's chair heretofore have looked to Louisville for the majority to carry them over. Ben Johnson has been quoted as saying that he thinks Louisville will do her part by him, and he is sure of going into a convention, or into a primary, with as loyal a following as ever supported any man.

Rumor had it a few days ago that Judge Allie Young, of Moorehead, was soliciting the support of the Whittens to help him make his dreams come true. Those who know the political game look on Mayor Head's active and sub-rosa campaign as a definite answer to the query, "Who does Col. Whittier want?"

WOULD REFORM WORLD. International Moral and Social Commission.

Washington, June 6.—The international moral and social commission has been incorporated here to conduct a world wide campaign of moral, social and political reform. Total abstinence, suppression of saloons, crusades against the so-called white slave traffic, race gambling, Sabbath desecration and promotion of arbitration are among its declared objects. Among those announced as concerned in the movement are Prof. Manuel Zane Hatten of Des Moines, Ia.; Rev. William S. Chase, of Brooklyn; Rev. Sylvan S. Stahl, of Philadelphia; Archdeacon Boyce, of Sidney, Australia; Dr. R. Herod, of Lausanne, Switzerland; and Rev. E. W. Thwinn, of Tsin, China. The commission is eventually number 21.

Where They Play Today and Tomorrow.

Paducah at Clarksville (two games).
Vincennes at Hopkinsville (two games).

Two wild pitches resulted in Clarksville securing a tie game that went 10 innings yesterday when Paducah was entitled to the game by a score of 2 to 0. Failure to bunch hits was also a cause for the lack of a victory for the Indians, as the Clarksville hurler was batted hard, but he kept them scattered. By agreement the game was called at 5 o'clock to permit the two teams to catch a train for Clarksville. Score 2 to 2.

It was a close game all the way, and it pleased a large bunch of fans, who would have been more pleased had Paducah won the game. Crane, for Paducah, permitted only one hit, but two errors bunched enabled Clarksville to score as many runs, although the Indians used their war clubs for 11 safe raps, and could score but twice. The diamond was in fair shape despite the heavy rains Saturday, and some good baseball was played. Some wild raps went as hits, that no doubt would have been smothered had the field been faster.

Clarksville, quick to take advantage of the Indians errors, jumped to the lead at the start of the game. It was in the fourth inning that Baitner, the first man up, was hit by the ball. Flood laid down a neat sacrifice. Keen was out Cox to Cooper, but Laitner traveled to third sack. Shinn was given four wide ones, and two were on the sacks with two down. McCance laid down an infield hit that Crain ran up and got. He threw wild to Cooper, and Laitner scored. Cooper got the ball, and in turn threw wild to Overtown, and Shinn crossed the rubber.

Not until the sixth inning did Paducah proceed to start after revenge. In this round Angemeier opened business with a pretty single to left garden, and then stole second. Payne hit to McCance and was out at first, but not until Angemeier had traveled to third station. Lockhart hit a high foul that Blue nabbed. It looked a little blue sure enough, but Manager Cooper stepped to the pan. He smacked the first ball for a neat single to left, while little Angemeier crossed the home station. Cox walked, but hopes of more scores vanished when Overtown went out Hoyt to Bridges.

In the seventh inning the score was tied amid wild cheers. Block walked to the pan, and lined out a pretty hit to center field. Tidwell grounded out to Bridges. Crain followed with a single, and Block reached third. Angemeier hit a high one to Baitner in right, and on the throw in, Block crossed the rubber. Payne was an easy out.

It looked like a victory in the eighth for the Indians, but Hoyt pulled out of the hole. Lockhart hit a hot one to Hoyt, that could not be handled, and the little center fielder reached first. Several attempts were made to catch him off first. Cooper sacrificed him to second. Cox sawed, while Overtown hit to Hoyt, and was safe, but was nabbed a minute later trying to steal second.

The only hit scored off Crane came in the sixth inning. Keen had that honor, as he lined out a clean drive to center. Nothing came from the hit, however. The only score for the Volunteers resulted from hitting a batter and a base on balls. Crane twirled in grand style. Hoyt for Clarksville had a good cross fire ball, but the Indians soon got next to his left hand throws, and lined the sphere out. Lockhart in center and Block in right made pretty catches of flies after long runs. They were given the glad hand when they walked in.

Vincennes Adds Another.
Vincennes, Ind., June 6.—Vincennes tightened her lead on first place yesterday afternoon when Hopkinsville was defeated 10 to 0. The game was transferred to Vincennes and a large bunch of fans saw the Alfies win. Bailey pitched a steady game and allowed only six hits, scattering them so that no scores resulted. Dowd started the game for Hopkinsville but was batted out of the box. Bishop succeeded him, but faring little better.

Splashes From the Diamond.
Cox has been transferred to third and "Dummy" Payne placed at short. Cox has a good whip and sends 'em over to first like a cannon.

Crane tossed away his own game yesterday when he threw wild to Cooper. In too big a hurry to catch his man.

Carroll was sick and not in the game. His stick work took a slump since on the road. Black filled right garden, and he continues to swat the horsehide.

The Indians and the Volunteers left last night at 6 o'clock for Clarksville, and it was therefore necessary to call the game at the end of ten innings. The tie will be played off this afternoon in Clarksville, while tomorrow Saturday's game will be played off, making two doubleheaders in two days.

Vincennes will open in Paducah next Sunday for a series. The Indians will then remain at home to receive every team.

Clarksville has some husky players. All of the players are large fellows. Some of the Indians look like midgits beside them.

It was the first appearance of Clarksville on the local diamond.

A Favored Fire Horse.
Up in Yonkers one of the fire companies in the outskirts has a horse which is a great favorite not only with the firemen but with the neighbors. He roams at will in the vacant lots for blocks from the house, but he is on the job at the first tap of the bell, and never seems to be behind the less privileged animals which have to stay in the house. This steed gets his regular meals at home, but he is a welcome guest at all the nearby houses where there are children and receives a good many dainties to eke out the bill of fare provided by the municipality.

THE CONTRIBUTION BOX.

The wife of the clergyman of a certain suburban parish was mending clothes the other day when a visitor was announced. The hostess went on with her sewing, for the caller was a well known parishioner. After a while the visitor glanced toward the sewing table and exclaimed:

"Why, there are some buttons exactly like some my husband had on his last winter suit. They are an odd kind of button, too. Where did you get them?"

The clergyman's wife smiled, roguishly. "In the collection basket," she answered, quietly. "I found a good many of the same kind. I am saving them up for possible use."

The caller changed the subject as hastily as she could, and somehow or other she did not stay very long.

AT CHAUTAUQUA

MEN'S BIBLE CLASS WILL HOLD RALLY.

Cairo Class Invited to Attend Service Here on June 19, at 10 a. m.

On June 19, at 10 a. m., the Men's Bible class of the Broadway M. E. church, which numbers about 200, will hold its usual meeting under the Chautauqua pavilion at Wallace park, it being the opening day of the Chautauqua. The class so decided Sunday on the suggestion coming to the body from the executive board of the class. It was also decided to invite the members of all other men's Bible classes of the city and the big Cairo men's Bible class, and men in general to meet with them in a grand rally of Bible students. Mr. J. A. Carnegie, teacher of the Broadway class, will talk to the gathering on Bible studying, and others will doubtless also be heard. The meeting will no doubt be full of interest and should attract a large number of men, all of whom should be interested in the studying of the Bible.

The executive board of the Broadway M. E. church Bible class is to hold a meeting tonight at 7:45 o'clock in the office of the church, to consider some matters of interest to the class. All members of the board are urged to be present.

Your Wedding and then Your Own Home

It's the little home you've furnished and it's going to be a great pleasure. You've ideas of how you want it—and where best to carry out your house ideas is your puzzling question, isn't it?

The question needn't be puzzling—the carrying out of your home ideas needn't bother you one single bit—if you'll but come to the Rhodes-Burford Store.

We're here to carry out your home ideas—we're here to serve you well and faithfully—you can come here with absolute confidence in us—our goods and our prices.

That's the sort of store you've in mind, isn't it? And it will answer that puzzling question if you'll but let it. Are you going to do it?

Beautiful Bed Davenport $18.75

If the flat is small and you need more sleeping room, why not a handsome Bed Sofa—that can easily be made into a bed. This is a very excellent article and very attractive in appearance. It's the automatic style—frame of solid oak—seat and back covered in Chase Leather, a most serviceable covering—spring construction first class—box under seat for bedding.

An ornament to your home—just the one you need.

Sideboard $22.50

Here's a beautiful genuine quarter-sawn oak (there are imitations of quarter-sawn oak; note that this one is not). Sideboard—a fine, massive board; golden polished finish, with neatly carved top and base; two silver drawers, one lined; fine long, linen drawer and large cupboard in base; beveled French plate mirror in top—a mighty handsome board, beautifully finished and thoroughly well made. It surely will look mighty fine in your new home. Going to have it, aren't you?

THE NEW HOME WILL WANT THE BEST OF GAS RANGES THEN OF COURSE THE ONE WILL BE "BUCK'S"

Sanitary White Enamel Lined Gas Range

Longer service you will get from "Buck's" because the cast iron linings will not rust—better service because the white enamel oven and broiler interiors mean better baking and broiling, and always wholesome food, most economical service—for, by actual test, the burners have proven this. A "Buck's" then for your home?

Rugs, Draperies, Curtains

You'll want new and attractive Floor Coverings and goods that will wear well.

You'll find the newest and best in greatest assortment at Rhodes-Burford's.

$11.50 for 9x12 Tapestry Brussels Rugs

Splendid value, these beautiful brand new spring patterns—rich in colorings and designs—of splendid dependable quality.

You'll find amongst the lot just the Rug your home needs. It's here waiting for you. Come to get it!

Lace Curtains $1.25 Per Pair

These are excellent quality, full size and good patterns.

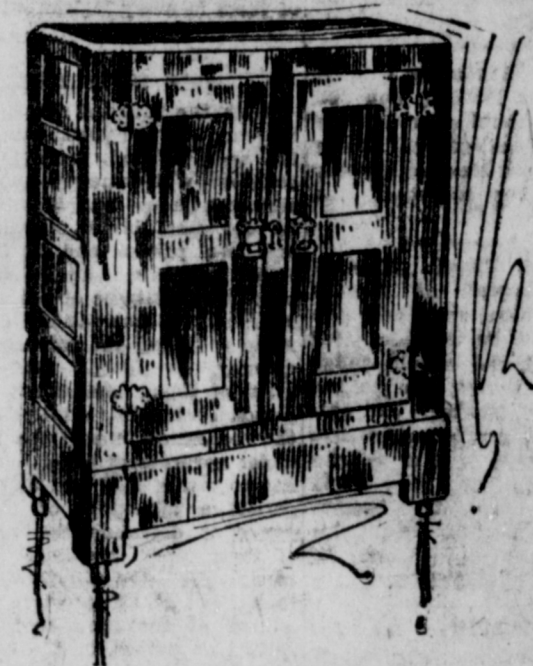

Others at various notches of the price scale—all colorings and patterns to add the finishing touches to your home's attractiveness.

Elegant, Massive Three-Piece Porch Set $9.50

No description that we might put upon paper would do full justice to this beautiful Porch Set. The set is composed of Settee, Arm Chair and Rocker. The frames are heavy and massive solid oak.

Just the thing for your new home—it will add much to its attractiveness. You want it, don't you?

$21.00 Porcelain Lined Refrigerator

This Refrigerator is well built of solid oak; nicely finished; ice capacity 120 pounds—46 inches high, 37 inches wide, 20 inches deep—has adjustable shelves. The interior is spotless white—porcelain lined—will not craze, crack or wear off.

Stop and consider a moment—is there anything you use about the home of more importance than your refrigerator? Into it goes for preservation, large portion of the food you eat. Suppose your refrigerator does not properly preserve—that it isn't perfectly dry—that it hasn't a cold interior.

Such conditions breed disease, and such is the case in a cheap, poorly-made refrigerator. The Gibson is not that sort—it preserves perfectly.

Auto Top Life Saver.

His automobile top probably saved the life of Hayes Dunn, 327 North Third street, about 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon when his auto crashed into the iron post supporting the large clock in front of Nagle & Meyers, third and Broadway.

The post broke off two feet from the base, precipitating the big clock directly on the auto top. Mr. Dunn was driving along and in turning at Third and Broadway his machine skidded on the slippery mud and struck the post. The auto was slightly damaged.

Daily Thought.

The greatest thing in the world is a good man, and all good flows out of the spring called a great heart.—N. McGee Waters.

It is significant that the roster of the Tennessee team in the Kitty league contains Rainwater, Flood and Bridges.

Press dispatches say war will be made on Senator La Follette. That may do for convenience of expression, but if we know anything the senator from Wisconsin started the fracas.

The esteemed Henderson Gleaner congratulates The Evening Sun on its fairness in ascribing credit for the new capitol building to former Governor Beckham. May we speedily find the opportunity to return the compliment.

The Louisville Times publishes "some striking poses" of Swager Sherley, from which, were not the qualifying phrase, "a candidate for congress", added, we should judge he was a prize fighter; for he has his arms upraised, extended and outstretched in various ways, suggestive of either Roosevelt or Jim Jeffries in action, but his lips are firmly closed, showing that Mr. Sherley forgot to make motions with his mouth as if speaking, when he "posed" for the photographs.

SOCIALISM.

Representatives at Washington think President Taft is unduly alarmed about socialism, because of the success of the movement in Milwaukee. President Taft was not discussing the Socialist party; he was discussing socialism, that theory of economics which would abolish the ancient doctrine of equality of opportunity to exercise natural talents to the fullest extent of one's capacity, and place artificial restrictions on the initiative of those most capable of serving society. The socialist calls his cult practical Christianity; but the difference is subtle and can always be distinguished by the person in which charges against the wrongs of modern society are made. If one accuses society in the third person, as a critic standing off and viewing evils in which he is not a participant, he is a socialist. If he places the accusation in the first person, acknowledges his own shortcomings and own responsibilities, searches his own heart for the evils of the day and endeavors to work reform by starting with himself, he is a practical Christian. It's easier to be a Socialist.

WAR NOT ALL BAD.

Since peace talk has become fashionable it is customary to refer to the wars of the past as evidence of national depravity, disregarding the really valuable results of them. The latest contributor to the literature of peace is Chauncey Depew, who relates how McKinley would have settled our differences with Spain in 1898 without war if the country had not forced congress into the celebration. Yet, had such a settlement been made, today the Philippines would be extended to Japan, the trembling hand of Spain and the Rico would be the object of European desire as long as the ineffectual rule of the Castilians remained. Moreover, the great ethical movement, which is stirring of this country today, our recognition of a responsibility to the whole world for national conduct, followed our assumption of the "white man's" burden in our island possessions. McKinley himself acknowledged the greater wisdom of Providence when he spoke of the assimilation of the Philippines and Porto Rico as our "manifest destiny." It was to be, and it was for the best. Our motives in fighting Spain arose from the noblest impulse in the hearts of a free people, to aid others to be free, and the results have been beneficial to the national conscience.

LEGISLATIVE BLACKMAIL.

The latest disclosures in connection with the Illinois bribery case bring to light proof of what every body acquainted with politics knows exists in nearly every state legislature. The modus operandi is simple. A combination is formed under leadership of astute politicians, members introduce bills, placing new restrictions on railroads and other interests, public service corporations of all kinds, certain lines of commercial and manufacturing business and the fishing industry to the number of scores. Then the leaders, well known to the lobbyists, are seen and an agreed amount is paid the leaders for killing the measures. This amount is distributed among the participants in the "jackpot" and bills, which have been referred to the proper committees, never see the light. Meanwhile, the "introducer" of the bill, possibly, has secured recognition at once as a great reformer, and he is not blamed for the fact that his bill is killed, while he is given a share of the boodle for his work. Of course, there are legitimate reform bills introduced. These can be distinguished from the "blackmailing" measures in two ways: In the first place, the character of the man sent to the legislature is generally known to his constituents, and his reputation and associations at home and in politics give him his standing. The nature of the fight made for the passage of the measure also indicates the amount of good faith behind it.

A fishing concern, engaged in the fish industry in Illinois, admitted that it was contributing to the "jackpot" for 25 years for protection. We elect bums and crooks to the legislature and then blame the business interests for bribing the general assembly. We could with as good grace arm the highway to hold up travelers, and blame the travelers for debauching our citizens. Turn where we will, we cannot escape the responsibility for all the crimes committed in our state legislatures. If we elect high class, decent men to office they will conduct themselves properly. There are enough of them in every legislature to prove this.

THE NEXT FIGHT.

With the railroad rate bill out of the way and the postal savings bank bill well in hand, the next fight in congress will come up on the conservation issue, and it promises to be the most bitter of all. There are two parties and a misunderstanding involved, and it would be best first to dispose of the misunderstanding. Conservation does not mean collecting the resources of the country, as Joseph gathered the grain of Egypt and stored it for a season of drouth; but it does mean the economical use of the resources under government supervision, so as not to waste the fuel and coal or permit a monopoly of the water power or denuding the watersheds of their forest covering. Properly administered, the conservation policy should not at all interfere with the mining of coal and fuel and the cutting of timber, or the harnessing of the waterfalls. The supervision is merely to prevent waste and to prevent combined interests seizing the water sites and the coal and fuel deposits and holding them. There is as much danger that the untrammeled occupation of these valuable lands will prevent their use, as there is that they will be wasted in exploitation, since the Guggenheims syndicate has evinced an inclination to hold these power sites and fuel deposits until the country is in distress and it can extort the last penny for their holdings.

Unquestionably there are fanatics, who would hold government land unused against all comers. These men are fretting the northwest, which wants capital and immigrants, and probably the conservation policy at the beginning did not work altogether smoothly—it would be exceptional if it did—and this has made it obnoxious. On the other hand there are the Guggenheims and their kind ready to fight with their millions every attempt to restrict them, and their activity casts suspicion on a conservative rational program, which is less radical than the fanatics could wish.

As usual the Taft smile will be in the center of the fight, appearing to each side to be turned toward the other; but the smile will triumph and conservatism and effectiveness will result.

FARMERS SHOULD ATTEND.

McCracken county farmers are requested by the Paducah Fair association to make preparations for the coming fall fair and races and begin work on their displays. The program is being gotten in form and will be announced soon and distributed far and wide. After the programs are issued they will be sent to the farmers and all those who do not receive one are asked to call upon Secretary Rodney Davis and secure one. The farmers of this county will add much to the fair and their displays are looked forward to with much interest. Livestock, farm products, preserves and jellies prepared by the wives of farmers will be on exhibition and prizes awarded for the best.

Commission Form of Government Has Been Adopted By Sixty Cities.

The commission form of government is becoming a national issue. Already some 60 cities, representing over 300,000 people have adopted its essential features. In Kansas nine cities have adopted the commission plan, in Texas 15, Boston, Buffalo, Tacoma, St. Joseph and Memphis—all cities of over 100,000—have this form of municipal government. Everybody's Magazine for June contains a story giving the experiences of some of the cities, and a resume of the experiences of all, from which the following is taken:

In Houston, the first year of the new plan showed that the saving effected had enabled the city to pay $400,000 of indebtedness, while the tax levy was reduced 20 cents on the $100. At the same time the public improvements effected were the greatest in the history of the city, and the appropriations for such work exceeded the records. As one indication of the new order, I may mention that in one year Houston laid six miles of new street paving and paid for it without issuing a dollar's worth of bonds.

In Des Moines, the general disgust with the old method of government was so great that when the question of adopting the new was being agitated, placards appeared in the streets bearing only the words: "It Can't Be Any Worse Than This," and all men knew and appreciated what was meant. After a year of the new plan, the Des Moines Register and Leader, a newspaper of conspicuous fairness, reviewing the advantages and disadvantages of the innovation, concluded that "Des Moines is, in fact, the most economically and most honestly managed city of its size in the middle west." The old city government had left affairs in such tangle that an issue of $180,000 of bonds to provide for the flattening indebtedness was necessarily the first step of the new managers; the first year of their work showed that all of this extravagance had been excised, and economy had taken the place of helter-skelter extravagances. Previously there had been in the general fund an annual deficit of from $50,000 to $25,000; this had been converted into surplus; none of the funds reported a deficit.

The collecting of license taxes, which, with other duties, had been much neglected under the old city government, had been carefully looked after by the new. Every department showed increased efficiency, and an increased total of business transacted at a decreased cost. Public improvements had cost less and had been pushed faster. In brick paving, for instance, the expense had been reduced by seven cents a yard and in asphalt paving by two cents; and more of each had been laid than ever before. The cost of curbing had been cut one and a half cents a foot. Under the old government the city paid to the gas company $24,278.66 for 1,113 street lamps, under the new $19,475.53 for 1,119 lamps; under the old government $75 a year for each street electric lamp, under the new $65.

In Sioux Falls, the new system seems to be viewed with practically unanimous satisfaction. Three results are already apparent. There will be a saving in city expenses caused chiefly by the consolidation of offices, there has been a noticeable increase of efficiency in all the departments; public improvements have been both stimulated and conducted upon a coherent plan, the business of the city is no longer a hit-and-miss affair, looked after at odd times by men busy with other occupations, but a rational enterprise ably managed for definite ends.

In the old days the city council met once a month; the new commissioners or managers must meet once a week and may meet at any time by the call of the mayor or of two commissioners. All meetings must be open to the public—a dear relief to the people of Sioux Falls, for in the old days there were "star chamber" or executive meetings about which the people were allowed to know nothing. "The difference between the old system and the new system in Sioux Falls," said a resident, "is the difference between chaos and order; between 20 men each pulling in a different direction and five all pulling in one."

Cedar Rapids affords probably the best and clearest illustration of the practical workings of the new idea. Some of the achievements of the new system were amazing, and staggered even the most familiar with the slipshod ways of the old. For example, under the old regime the city's revenues from the police court and the police department amounted to about $75 a month. When Business Democracy came it increased those revenues to $700 a month, and without increasing the assets. How? Merely by collecting the license fees and other fees instead of allowing them to go by default. Can there be any doubt that the representative is the costliest system of government known to man?

Every month in Cedar Rapids the hired managers render to the people a true and exact account of the people's business, every item of receipt, every item of expenditure, with a balance sheet, so that the people may judge how well their hired men are doing their work.

In all these cities the public business is apportioned among the commissioners, each becoming the head of a department for which he alone is responsible to the people that hire him. He is hired to manage that department as a railroad company hires a man to manage its freight department. If he can secure results and make a success of his department—good; he remains. If he proves incompetent, he is released and another is engaged in his place. Whether he goes or stays rests entirely with the people that hire him. It is purely a business arrangement; the pernicious element of politics has no more to do with it than politics would have to do with a general freight agent.

These experiments are young and may possibly be deemed not conclusive, but the following achievements of the new plan seem to be fairly well established:

1. It abolishes party politics from local affairs.
2. It eliminates the boss, the graffer and the political machine.
3. It views a municipality as a great business enterprise and provides accordingly for its effective management.
4. It recognizes definitely the failure of representative government and substitutes therefor a system of democracy; it recognizes the fact that there is no wisdom but collective wisdom.
5. It establishes direct responsibility for every public act.
6. It seems to be swift, efficient, economical, and adapted to a rational community in the twentieth century.
7. It abolishes a raft of useless offices, sinecures, jobs, and political rewards, and substitutes organization method and work.

We have been so long deluded and disappointed in our municipal affairs that we may be pardoned if we look with some misgiving upon every experiment that promises relief. Yet about this are two facts, both fundamental, that may tend to reassure the timid: It is exactly in accord with the progress of democracy, and exactly in accord with the plainest principles of good business, good morals and good sense.

Meeting on the Causeway.

A misty form met a phantom flare on the causeway of lost souls, says the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

"I am the Flood," quoth the misty one.

"I am the Fire," quoth the other. "I am the first destroyer!" roared the Flood.

"And I am the ultimate consumer," hissed the Fire.

Thus the Flood met the Fire on the causeway of lost souls.

An Apt Retort.

"On a crowded Wade Park car the other night a woman occupied two or three minutes of precious time in getting out her purse and paying her fare," says Frank Melbourne. "Finally in exasperation the conductor asked in a flippant way: 'Where did you learn to be so speedy?'"

"Perhaps," replied the woman, "it was in the same correspondence school wherein you learned to be so polite."

"And the conductor let it go at that."—Cleveland Leader.

GREAT INCREASE

OVER 32,000 MEN WILL BENEFIT BY BL ADVANCE.

Raise Results from Arbitration of Demands — Non-union Employees Same Rate.

Chicago, June 6.—Locomotive firemen on forty-nine western railroads were granted an increase in wages today of about 7 1/2 per cent, or 60 percent. of the demands made last December and referred to arbitration under the Erdman act.

About 25,000 union men were involved, but all firemen, whether members of the union or not, will get the increase. There are about 32,000 employed on the roads involved. Following are the changes:

Firemen on main lines and branch passenger service, fifteen cents increase per 100 miles or less.

On through or irregular freight, mixed, gravel, work, wreck helper, pusher, snowplow and branch service (except maillet type of engines) fifteen cents advance per 100 miles or less.

On coal-burning engines, fifteen cents additional.

On simple engines having cylinder 24 inches or over and compound engines weighing 215,000 pounds or more, not less than $3.75.

On engines of less size on which more than $3.75 is paid there shall be no increase.

Some Get More.

Firemen in local or way freight service, twenty-five cents advance per 100 miles or less over through rates established by this arbitration, except on roads having an eight-hour day or twelve and a half miles per hour basis for such runs. Firemen on maillet type engine, $4 per 100 miles in all classes of service.

Firemen in yard service, twenty-five cents advance per day.

Where rates of pay are provided for transfer service, an increase of twenty-five cents per day.

On lines where wages are negotiated through the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, committees for hostlers, engineers and engine dispatchers, an increase of twenty-five cents per day.

The increase shall be based on rates of pay in effect January 1, 1910.

River Ripples.

Arriving at 1 p. m. today from Nashville the J. B. Richardson unloaded and received freight at the wharft and left at noon for Clarksville with a good trip. She will return Wednesday.

Delayed many hours by a heavy fog over the river, the City of Savannah, en route to St. Louis, did not arrive until this morning from the Tennessee. She had a good trip.

After delivering a tow of empties to the rock quarries at Rosiclar yesterday, the government towboat Chisca, of Memphis, passed down at 6:30 o'clock this morning for the Mississippi, where she is working.

On her way to Cairo, the towboat J. H. Friends passed down yesterday evening to load pulp wood for the Cincinnati mills.

With a tie raft the towboat Morgan passed down out of the Cumberland yesterday, delivering it to Brookport. She returned here.

Pilot Leslie M. Stephon left this morning for Cairo to pilot the towboat Barrett to New Orleans.

Pushing four barges of logs the towboat Wash. Hensell came up from Cairo yesterday afternoon and returned light. The logs were delivered to the Ferguson & Palmer mills.

From Evansville, the John L. Lowry arrived before dark yesterday with a fair sized trip and got away at 10 a. m. today for a return trip to Evansville.

The Dick Fowler enjoyed a fair sized crowd on her excursion trip to Smithland yesterday afternoon, departing at 2 p. m. and returning at 6.

From Caseyville, the towboat May Anderson of the West Kentucky Coal company passed down yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock with a small tow for Memphis.

After conducting an excursion to Cairo yesterday, the J. S. departed early this morning for St. Louis. From there she will go to St. Paul, Minn.

Pilot John Newman on the John L. Lowry has resigned and Capt. John Troop is in his place.

Another pilot was added to the famous Smith family of pilots last night, when a fine boy was born to Pilot and Mrs. John N. Smith, 1612 Broad street. Capt. Smith received congratulations today at the river front.

Yesterday was an unusual day at the local harbor. Several towboats were in and out and there were two excursion parties.

The John S. Hopkins will be tomorrow's Evansville packet.

The Cowling and Ohio made their regular trips today.

The Dick Fowler left on time for Cairo this morning, and is due back at 8:30 o'clock tonight.

A heavy fog hung over the river last night, but broke early this morning. It caused some delay in the movement of steamboats.

CANNON'S GRASP

cal program carried out during the regime of former Forester Gifford Pinchot is favored by such western members as Senator Dixon, of Montana, Flint, and Perkins, of California, Piles of Washington, Chamberlain and Bourne, of Oregon, Smoot and Sutherland, of Utah, and numerous others.

Administration leaders are committed to the conservation legislation advocated by President Taft and it is not doubted therefore that the house bill for the withdrawal of public lands for conservation purposes will be passed at an early date and that the measure will emerge successfully from conference.

Statehood and Postal Bank.

Supporters of statehood legislation are willing to give the administration conservation measures the right of way if the Republican leaders will give their pledge that a vote shall be taken on the Arizona-New Mexico bill before adjournment.

At one time there were indications that there would be a serious clash over the question of which should be taken up first. The Democrats were inclined to oppose taking up any other measure in advance of the statehood bill, but at an informal conference yesterday they decided their cause would not be advanced by precipitating such a controversy as long as there is no time fixed for the present session to adjourn. They argued that they could force action before adjournment in any event.

The house committee on postoffice and post roads will meet and probably will report to the house the postal savings bank bill perfected last week in the Republican caucus. It is expected that the committee on rules will meet on Tuesday and report out a special rule that the postal bank will be given the right of way through legislative channels.

Fight in Rules Committee.

This rule will precipitate a hot fight in the rules committee and on the floor of the house. It is expected. Both of these committee were ordered by a majority of the Republican caucus to take the action outlined.

Republican leaders of the house say there will be no difficulty in putting the bill through without amendment. They estimate that at the outside limit not more than fourteen of the insurgent Republicans will vote with the Democrats against the measure.

Unless some agreement is reached by which a conference can be avoided, both the house and the senate will name conferees on the railroad bill. The suggestion made Saturday that the house accept the senate amendments to the bill met with favor in some quarters, and for that reason no action was taken in the house. Speaker Cannon allowing the question of naming conferees to go over.

AT THE KENTUCKY

The show at the Kentucky, opening with the matinee this afternoon, is without any exaggeration one of the very best that has ever been offered to the Paducah theatergoers in the way of vaudeville. All of the acts are of the big city kind and numbered among the best of the Morris bookings.

The big feature is that of the Still City Four, the highest salaried act that has played here, and is one of the very best singing quartettes in vaudeville, and come direct from the American Music hall, at New Orleans, where they were a big success for the past two weeks. To properly enhance the locale of their offering, they carry special scenery. All have splendid voices and their selections are especially adapted.

And the fellow that will make laughter contagious is Art Adair, the original Hank Sponage, who is one of vaudeville's splendid eccentric comedians with a melange of comedy and music that has made the whole world laugh.

An extraordinary novelty is Fielding and Carlos, the roller skating wonders who do any number of clever feats and tricks on the rolling wheels.

Miss Lewin will have two new songs, which she will render in her own inimitable way, and 1,000 feet of the best moving pictures that have been shown in Paducah.

Too much praise cannot be given the bill offered today for it will more than make good all the claims made for its goodness and cleverness. And the price of admission is 10 cents. The reason why these big city vaudeville can be presented at this price is because the Kentucky has such a large seating capacity.

MRS. RUDD DIES

WOMAN, WHO RESCUED GRAND-CHILD SUCCUMBS.

Terrible Burns Received While Carrying Infant From Blazing Residence.

Succumbing to her burns, Mrs. Dora Rudd, 65 years old, died Saturday afternoon about 5 o'clock. The funeral was held yesterday afternoon with burial in the Norton cemetery. From Friday morning when she was horribly burned until death Saturday afternoon she was in agony.

She resides with her daughter, Mrs. Johnson Harper, and Friday morning the house caught on fire. At the time Mrs. Rudd was in the garden while her young grandchild was in the house alone. At the risk of her own life she heroically rushed into the burning house and rescued the child. Her clothes caught fire, and before the blaze could be extinguished she was burned all over the body. She was a true Christian woman with many friends in the county. She is survived by two daughters: Mrs. Johnson Harper, with whom she lived and Mrs. J. Thomas, of Charleston, N. C.

Mrs. D. W. Hern.

Mrs. D. W. Hern, 63 years old, died at 6 o'clock yesterday morning at her home on Wheeler avenue after a year's illness of cancer. She had been living here a number of years and was highly respected and leaves many friends. She leaves three sons: Messrs. A. M. James and H. Hern, all of this city. The body was shipped to Hopkinsville at 11:20 o'clock this morning for burial there this afternoon.

Dismissed With Lecture.

Hems.

There's no question about it. We do not decide to hem or not to hem.

We simply have to be hemmed this season.

And hems are by no means the simple affairs of old.

No; a skirt hem may extend anywhere up to the knees.

And it may be of almost any shape, size or condition.

Of yore a hem was very likely to finish a full skirt.

Now it is the quaint band into which the fullness is gathered.

MOTHER'S FRIEND

A LINIMENT FOR EXTERNAL USE.

One of the most valuable qualities of Mother's Friend is that it safe-guards the future health of the mother. It is a liniment to be applied externally to the body, the use of which lubricates the muscles and tendons, softens the glands and ducts, prevents lumps forming in the breasts, and relieves the pain, nervousness, nausea, and other troubles from which so many expectant mothers suffer. When Mother's Friend is used regularly it fits and prepares the system for an easy and natural consummation of the term. Women who massage with this great liniment are always saved much suffering when baby comes, and recover more quickly, and without ill effects. Mother's Friend is sold at drug stores. Write for our free book for expectant mothers.

CARAVAN CIRCUS

ROLLS INTO PADUCAH OVER MAYFIELD ROAD.

"Tented Pavilion" Erected at Wallace Park for "Three Day Stand."

The old-fashioned caravan circus arrived yesterday afternoon, coming in over the Mayfield road and repairing at once to Wallace park, where camp was made, and the circus people settled down for the night. Bright and early this morning the "big top" was erected and tonight, Tuesday and Wednesday an exhibition of the real, one-ring circus of childhood days will be given under the "tented pavilion," where one may watch the performance "without dislocating his neck and confusing his mind trying to see three things at once." Manager Deal has been the recipient of many inquiries from people, who have not seen a circus of this kind in years.

O. HENRY DEAD.
Story Writer Began Career on the Houston Post.

New York, June 6.—William Sidney Porter, known best under his pen name of O. Henry, as the writer of short stories, died today at Polytechnic hospital. He underwent an operation last Friday and never rallied. The nature of his ailment was not made known.

Mr. Porter was born in Greensboro, N. C., forty years ago, and began his journalistic career on the Houston Post. Before that he had been a cowboy, sheep herder and druggist, and an extensive traveler. The general public knew little of his private life, for he shunned interviews and was content to be known merely through his writings as O. Henry. His breezy paragraphs penned in Texas first drew attention to the young writer several years ago. Then he launched forth with "Sunday stories" for a New York paper and was quickly recognized as a writer of ability. Magazine stories followed and his fame was assured.

INDORSE INDEPENDENTS.
Taft Urges Republicans of Tennessee to Fight Gang.

Nashville, Tenn., June 6.—In a letter to Col. A. M. Shook, of this city, the Hon. Foster V. Brown, of Chattanooga, one of the most prominent Republicans in Tennessee, now United States attorney general of Porto Rico, says he has seen President Taft and Mr. Hitchcock regarding the judicial situation in Tennessee.

Gen. Brown says they both agree with him that the Independent Democratic candidates should receive Republican endorsement. He expresses the opinion that this endorsement will be given, declaring:

"If it is not done it will be because there are some people in the Republican party willing to betray it for whisky and money."

SHUNNED BY ALL THEIR FELLOWS

RODIYAS OF CEYLON MUST KEEP ALOOF.

Their Dress Prescribed, and They May Not Own Land—Most Degrading

DOUBTS AS TO THEIR ORIGIN

There is in Ceylon a community of people who are, like the Indian pariahs, absolute outcasts from all society. They dwell in their own separate villages, remote from other habitations, and have no intercourse with the rest of the island folk. They are forbidden by immemorial custom to hold a single roof of land as private property; they are not permitted to follow any recognized trade or occupation; they may not cross a ferry or draw water from a well; if they meet another native on the road they must cower away to one side lest their proximity should pollute him.

They must not wear any garment other than a scanty cloth tied around the waist and reaching only to the knees, male and female alike; they must keep the upper part of the body bare, and if they are covered when they meet another native they must strip off their covering, for not to do so would be a deadly insult. They gain their livelihood, if they labor at all, by the most degrading of work, making ropes from the hides of cattle, an occupation abhorred from its ancient association with the hangman.

They also prepare the skins of monkeys for use in making the native drum or tom-tom. They are paid for these in kind. They deposit their handiwork outside the houses of likely purchasers; if the ropes and skins are needed they are taken in and boiled rice is left in their place.

Naturally this people, living for centuries under a system so insulting, is in every way, says G. F. Plant in the Manchester Guardian, shameless and brutalized. Most of them live as itinerant beggars. They creep warily to the back of a house and, standing at the lawful distance call monotonously for alms. So deeply ingrained is the sense of degradation of these people and the contamination of their contact that not even the lowest servant will go near to turn them away. It is told of a Cingalese police officer that when ordered to arrest a Rodiya murderer he replied: "Impossible, but I can go near his hamlet and shoot him."

The Rodiya beggars attend all places of festival, and especially the harvest home, and never fail to extort a contribution by their shameless importunity. The men are often well made and not ill favored, sometimes tall and of a pleasant light brown complexion. The women are, many of them, among the finest specimens of womanhood in the east. They wander about the countryside giving displays of dancing and juggling. Their moral code is very low.

Aided by English.
Of late years, under the British government, this unhappy tribe has made some advance in material things, though the social stigma remains. Many of them have reclaimed pieces of waste land, raised grain and vegetables, and by selling their produce in the larger bazaars where European civilization has blunted the edge of old-time prejudice, have made enough money to buy a piece of good land from the Crown.

From the Crown, be it noted, for no private person would degrade himself by having money transactions with these folk; nay, there has been much difficulty in many villages where the Rodiyas have bought land even from the Crown, for the villages have thought it an insult that a Rodiya should be a

ANOTHER WOMAN CURED

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Black Duck, Minn.—"About a year ago I wrote you that I was sick and could not do any of my household work. My sickness was called Retroflexion. When I would sit down I felt as if I could not get up. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and did just as you told me and now I am perfectly cured, and have a big baby boy."

Mrs. ANNA ANDERSON, Box 19, Black Duck, Minn.

Consider This Advice.
No woman should submit to a surgical operation, which may mean death, until she has given Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made exclusively from roots and herbs, a fair trial.

This famous medicine for women has for thirty years proved to be the most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism. Women residing in almost every city and town in the United States bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It cures female ills, and creates radiant, buoyant female health. If you are ill, for your own sake as well as those you love, give it a trial.

Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., invites all sick women to write her for advice. Her advice is free, and always helpful.

property owner among them and have harassed him in every way in the occupation an development of his purchase.

Fortunately in the courts of law the Rodiyas can gain an impartial hearing, though here too they are handicapped by the difficulty of obtaining witnesses to give evidence on their behalf. As regards education their condition is deplorable. They could not be tolerated in schools along with other children; their presence would be an abomination. Nor have they had any schools of their own until recent years, when a mission has started work among them. Under these circumstances they have had no chance of improvement; they have sunk lower generation after generation.

Now it is the intention of the government to make a determined effort to raise them. Their children are to be educated in properly organized schools established in their villages. They are to have opportunities of becoming landed proprietors, and efforts are to be made to teach them agriculture; and they are to be taught trades, too, and markets are to be found for what they produce.

In all transactions with government officials the Rodiyas are to be addressed by the usual pronoun "umba" (you) instead of the offensive "tho" (thou); the women are to wear a covering over the upper part of the body. It is hoped that these efforts will begin to raise them from their degraded habit of life and place them on a higher plane, resulting in the end in their emancipation from their present position as utter outcasts from society.

The origin of the Rodiyas is lost in obscurity. Popular tradition among the Cingalese says that they are the descendants of royal hunters who were banished and degraded for an abominable crime; they served up human flesh before the king on a day when they had been unsuccessful in the chase. There is no reason to think that this story is anything more than a myth having its natural source in a natural tendency to assume a terrible cause for so terrible a effect.

The Oriental Idea.
Brahminical influences must not be lost sight of. Among Orientals in whose philosophy life was all misery and death a happy escape, the extreme form of punishment would not be death, but a continuance of life under conditions which should add to its misery by every conceivable means. So the Rodiyas would be the descendants of people condemned for various crimes to this form of punishment, and their ranks would be added to from time to time. There are, moreover, authentic records of cases where offenders guilty of high treason and similar crimes were cast out by the kings of Kandy to join the Rodiyas, their wives and families being cast out with them.

This would explain the fine physique of this people and the good looks of their women, for some of the best blood of Ceylon must flow in their veins, recruited as they have been from the ranks of treacherous nobles and fair but frail princesses. It has been thought, on the other hand, that the Rodiyas are the representatives of some foreign race, oppressed and degraded by their conquerors.

There is in fact a reference in the Mahawansa, the Cingalese history of Ceylon, to a village of outcasts in Ceylon in the fifth century A. D. of Hindu origin, and it is supposed that these people had immigrated from the coast of India and were of Chandala blood, a tribe so degraded that their shadow was pollution. So far, however, as physical tests are concerned there seems little to distinguish the Rodiyas from the rest of the Cingalese, while their language only differs in a few words peculiar to it which approximate mainly to the gypsy tongue, and it is easy to understand how an outcast people would pick up many words from a wandering tribe.

In considering the origin of the Rodiyas you cannot but be struck by the strange resemblance between their position in Ceylon and that of the Gacots and Caqueux in the Pyrenees and in the plains of Bretagne, Poitou and Guienne. There is hardly a point in which they differ. The Gacots and Caqueux dared not draw water from a public well or touch the parapet of the bridge with their bare hand; their persons were contaminating; they had to wear shoes to protect the earth from pollution, and they bore a red mark on the shoulder to warn travelers of their identity.

Though allowed to become Christians, they had a separate entrance into the church, a separate bowl of holy water and a separate burial ground. Their descent is equally uncertain; it is thought by some that they were sprung from Gothic or Moorish oppressors, overcome and expelled from the pale of society for their past enormities; by others, that they were the representatives of alien religions, Arians, Jews or Mohammedans, and loathed and abhorred religious toleration was inconceivable.

IOWA BATTLE

"PROGRESSIVES" IN TWO DISTRICTS HAVE A CHANCE.

Fight Has Been Waged With Great Bitterness on Congressmen Hull and Smith.

Des Moines, Ia., June 6.—Active participants in the primary campaign, weary with almost ceaseless speechmaking, were glad to be strict Sabbath observers. Everywhere, however, the claims of the Republican gubernatorial candidates, and those of the aspirants in the Seventh and Ninth congressional districts were eagerly discussed.

In the Seventh and Ninth districts, where Congressmen Hull and Smith are closely pressed by the "progressive" candidates, Judge Prouty and Attorney General Byers, and where the result will be considered as having a national bearing the campaign will be waged up to the last moment before the primaries Tuesday. Both Hull and Smith, the latter particularly as a member of the Cannon rules committee, are regarded by the "progressives" as standing for all that is reactionary.

The fight has been waged with great bitterness. Hull adherents claim that their leader will win on his record of work for the district. He is credited with bringing the army post and a new postoffice to Des Moines, as well as being an able "getter" generally in behalf of his constituents. Judge Prouty, in a speech, declared that Des Moines had received nothing that was not coming to it; that a Democratic congressman could have secured all that Hull has, and he arraigned his opponent with sarcastic vigor on his record on the tariff.

Governor Carroll has completed an automobile speedbinding trip and claims he will win on Tuesday by a majority of 35,000. Warren Garst, the so-called progressive candidate, makes a similar claim.

Stationary Engineers Choose Officers.
Hopkinsville, Ky., June 6.—The state meeting of the National Association of Stationary Engineers closed here this morning with election of officers as follows: President, Frederick L. Ray, of Louisville; vice president, Asa Williams of Owensboro; secretary, J. L. Harpole, of Hopkinsville; treasurer, John H. Oelze, of Owensboro; conductor, Calvin Carroll, of Louisville; doorkeeper, William Cummings, of Henderson.

The officers were duly installed by F. W. Raven, of Chicago, national secretary. Louisville was chosen as the next place of meeting to be held the first Friday and Saturday in June, 1911, and after adjourning the engineers went to Campbell's cave where an old-fashioned barbecue closed the festivities.

WYETH'S SAGE AND SULPHUR HAIR REMEDY

Grew a Full Growth of Hair on a Bald Head

Here's the Proof

For two or three years my hair had been falling out and getting quite thin, until the top of my head was entirely bald. About four months ago I commenced using Sage and Sulphur. The first bottle seemed to do some good and I kept using it regularly, until now I have used four bottles. The whole top of my head is now fairly covered with hair and it acquires coming in thickly. I shall keep on using it a while longer, as I notice a constant improvement.

The birthright of every man, woman and child—a full healthy head of hair. If your hair is falling, if it is full of dandruff, or if it is faded or turning gray, it is diseased and should be looked after without delay.

WYETH'S SAGE AND SULPHUR HAIR REMEDY, a true Hair Tonic and Restorer, removes dandruff in a few days, stops hair falling in one week, and starts a new growth in a month.

Does not soil the skin nor injure the hair; but it is an ideal hair dressing that will restore faded and gray hair to natural color and keep the hair soft and glossy.

TEST AEROPLANE

EXPERIMENTS AT CHICKAMAUGA THIS SUMMER.

Hamilton Will Ascend With Hundred Pounds of Explosives to Demonstrate Use.

Chattanooga, Tenn., June 6.—

Spectacular test of the utility of the aeroplane in warfare is to be made at the military encampment of United States troops and the national guard of several southern states at Chickamauga Park this summer.

The government has closed a contract with Charles K. Hamilton to conduct the most extensive practical experiments in aerial reconnaissance and bombardment ever attempted. In addition to Hamilton's machine, which is a duplicate of the machine in which Glenn H. Curtiss flew from Albany to New York, there will be present at the maneuvers the Wright biplane owned by the government and the dirigible balloon sold to the war department by Capt. Thomas S. Baldwin.

In executing the work laid out for him, Hamilton will carry aloft from 200 to 300 pounds of highly explosive nitroglycerine bombs. Racing at a speed varying from 45 to 55 miles an hour, he will release this deadly cargo while at a height of a quarter of a mile above the earth, raining it down upon targets in the two mile square area below in 75 installments. The targets underneath will consist of dummy fortifications, batteries, arsenals, bridges, trains and troops. In order that danger to life may be minimized to the remotest degree, the troops engaged in the maneuvers will be employed to police the area over which Hamilton will carry on his extraordinary operations.

FINAL OUTCOME OF RATE CASE

INTERESTS WALL STREET FOR THE PRESENT.

Railroads Are Determined to Fight For Increase to Last.

CROP REPORT IS ENCOURAGING

New York, June 6. (Special.)—A severe blow has been administered to financial interests by the unexpected injunction against an advance in railroad rates. Its first effect was to startle Wall street and force demoralized stocks. What the final outcome will be cannot now be foreseen. It means at any rate a period of prolonged discussion at Washington, together with a general reopening of agitation against the railroads. Out of the struggle so suddenly precipitated there should come some rational and permanent solution of the railroad problem; but unfortunately during the interval a period of more or less unsettlement in values must be expected. The present status of the railroads is unbearable, and some judicial power is necessary to settle the differences between them and the people. Railroads are a natural monopoly, and as such exercise arbitrary powers which inevitably invite the distrust of shippers and should be restrained. Railroad managers are human, and, however broad-minded and liberal they may be, are likely in the matter of rates to put on all the traffic will bear. Shippers desire stable rates, good service and equality of treatment. These advantages they generally receive, yet find themselves at the mercy of the railroads in the question of rates. The freight rate from the nature of the case is not a subject for bargaining—the usual method of settling business—hence the alarm of shippers at the recent movement of the roads to advance rates. Shippers believe the advance to be unnecessary, and express serious alarm at this exercise of arbitrary power free of restraint. On the other hand the railroads find themselves face to face with the problem of securing sufficient revenue to meet the increased demands of labor and rapidly growing expenses. There seems to be but one true solution of this antagonism in the relations between the railroads and the people; that is the establishment of some court or tribunal designed to arbitrate and settle all such differences. If such a court could be devised, securing fair treatment to the railroads and just and reasonable rates to shippers, a long step would be taken in removing one of the most acute sources of financial and political disquiet.

Railroads.

The railroads are evidently determined to secure better rates and are now filing notices of advances individually instead of collectively; but aside from this the general outlook, though somewhat mixed, is in many respects favorable. Recognition of over-speculation in western land has forced general retrenchment by inferior banks; and the steady curtailment of credit is gradually curing some of the financial ills from which that section is suffering. It is recognized, however, that the interior banks will not be able to finance the crops as easily as usual, owing to expansion of loans connected with land speculation in the west. Eastern banks will undoubtedly be obliged to assist in the autumn crop movement, and have been preparing themselves accordingly. As a result of these monetary conditions our bankers have been forced to look to Europe for the financing of proposed new security issues. While money is abundantly easy in both London and Paris, the placing of American securities has unquestionably been delayed by pronounced foreign distrust of the situation here. On the other side there has been a growing feeling that sharp liquidation must take place here, and a lower level for commodities as well as securities be established before European confidence in the United States can be restored. Such liquidation is now in progress. In fact has already run to a very considerable extent. Wheat and cotton have shown marked declines, and the tendency is for still lower prices. Commodities generally are declining. Unsatisfactory as this may be to those operating for the rise, the country will ultimately be benefited, and the cost of living will decline. Both wheat and cotton will go outward more freely and save us from the alternative of a further depletion in our gold supply. The situation has already been materially relieved by this unpleasant but curative process.

Crops.

Our crop situation is fairly satisfactory. The outlook is for a full crop of cotton, and wheat promises well. The prospect is also for a big hay crop. The growing season is from two to three weeks late, which somewhat increases the perils from early frosts, still there is ample time for recovery of lost ground, and it would be premature to take discouraging views of the present crop situation. Other favorable influences are the successful placing of St.

CATARRH CAN QUICKLY BE CURED.

A bottle of Hyomei, a hard rubber pocket inhaler, that will last a lifetime, and simple instructions for curing catarrh make a Hyomei outfit.

Into the inhaler you pour a few drops of magical Hyomei (pronounce it High-o-me).

This is absorbed by the antiseptic gauze within and now you are ready to breathe it over the germ infected membrane where it will speedily begin its work of killing catarrh germs. Hyomei is made of Australian eucalyptol combined with other antiseptics and is very pleasant to breathe.

It is guaranteed to cure catarrh, bronchitis, sore throat, croup, coughs and colds, or money back. It cleans out a stuffed up head in a few minutes.

Sold by druggists everywhere, and by Gilbert's drug store. Complete outfit $1.00. And remember that extra bottles if afterwards needed cost only 50 cents. Breathe it, that's all. To break up cold in head or chest in a few minutes pour a teaspoonful of Hyomei into a bowl of boiling water, cover head and bowl with towel and breathe the vapor.

Paul bonds and city warrants in Paris, the decline in the Bank of England rate, a good cotton report and a sharp decline in imports which with lower prices for wheat and cotton and foreign takings of our securities will interfere with further gold exports. It seems quite certain that Europe will take our best securities at a price, and present conditions seem unusually favorable to the foreign purchaser.

General business is affected adversely by the reaction in Wall street, as well as by a general recognition that we are passing through a period of readjustment from the late activity and excessively high prices. Economy is already taking the place of extravagance. Buyers naturally hesitate under such circumstances, although thus far there has been no serious slackening up of trade. Rather more activity has been shown in iron, owing to price concessions, but the future of this industry is largely dependent upon the railroad outlook; equipment orders are being cancelled, and new purchases of steel products are undoubtedly contingent upon the successful placing of American railroad bonds abroad. Delay in the latter will necessarily influence the street industry unfavorably.

Market.

The outlook for the market is exceedingly uncertain. Political conditions are unfavorable, and the country is threatened with a growing anti-railroad and anti-tariff agitation for some time to come. Political leaders are awaiting the return of Mr. Roosevelt. Financial leaders may do likewise. While there is no question that the general situation is being improved by liquidation and security values have already partially discounted the adverse conditions above referred to; the purchase of stocks, except on the breaks, cannot be safely recommended until conditions become more settled. In view of the oversold condition of the market there will doubtless be sharp and liberal rallies, but we still continue to suggest profit taking upon any pronounced recovery. No permanent turn for the better can be expected until improvement in both the political and monetary situations is in sight.

HENRY OLEWS.

Early to Rise.

A young college man, city bred and raised, says Success, answered the call for harvest hands in Kansas. Reaching a farm house late at night, he was promised work and assigned to a room. It seemed to him that he had hardly fallen asleep when he was asked to get up. Disgustedly the young man dressed himself in the darkness, and, picking up his gun, walked downstairs.

"Say, there, young fellow," said the farmer, trying to be helpful, "you don't need to take your valise out to the field with you."

"I know it," replied the young man tartly. "I'm going to look for a place to stay all night."

AUTOS CURSE

DAY TELLS GRADUATES TO CULTIVATE SELF-DENIAL.

Head of Eastern University Lays Blame For Few Marriages Upon Men's Lack of Self-Denial.

Syracuse, N. Y., June 6.—There are so many men courting about the country in automobiles and their pleasure absorbs such a large share of the productive capital of the country that Chancellor James R. Day, of Syracuse university, believes it is becoming a question if the automobile is not a curse to the country.

The chancellor was speaking to the graduating class of the university today on self-sacrifice and self-denial, and he chose the automobile as a "broad and apparent illustration" of a luxury that too often is not sacrificed.

"Young mechanics and clerks and business men," he said, "who need all of their capital, are mortgaging their homes by the thousands and losing their positions often by their infatuation with this form of pleasure."

"It is said that about five hundred million dollars are invested in the automobile trade, and this enormous capital is non-productive. That is, it adds comparatively nothing to the wealth of the people, but on the contrary, absorbs it."

The Greatest Woman.

"It means 90 per cent of wasted money and wasted time. A certain per cent returns in business uses and a wholesome rest and recreation."

"I know the criticism that will be sure to come because of what will be called an attack on a great industry, but I address myself to the abuse of self-indulgence in a good thing. I emphasize self-denial."

Lack of self-denial is accountable, the chancellor believes, for a lower marriage rate.

"If you want to know," he said, "why men marry less than of old, perhaps the secret is in the false whim of supporting a wife. He cannot afford to support a wife, the bachelor says. 'No woman ought to consent to be such a wife. She ought to say: I am not seeking or consenting to be supported. There will be two of us. If I cannot earn as much as you, I can save more. We will plan together.'"

"The greatest woman is the woman who brings to a man a home. She is greater than the suffragette or the female temperance lecturer."

REAR END

COLLISION AT FOX RUN SATURDAY AFTERNOON.

Two Cars and Caboose of 871 Are Derailed—Wrecker Called Out.

Second section of Illinois Central freight train, No. 171, crashed into the rear end of the first section Saturday afternoon at Fox Run, which is near Dawson Springs. Ten cars, the caboose and engine, No. 871, were derailed and traffic on the main line delayed several hours. The Paducah wrecker was called out, and the crew did not return until last night from the derailment. Engineer Jennings was in charge of the locomotive to the second section and he claims that he could not stop in time to avoid the collision after seeing the danger flag.

Engineer Jennings and Fireman Monimaker jumped from their engine and escaped serious injury. The engine plowed its way through the first section and the cab was torn from the boiler. Had they remained on the engine the two men would have been injured. The engine was brought to Paducah for repairs.

Notice was received today that June 15 will be pay day for the local employees. Checks for the employees of the Cairo district, Paducah shops, and train and engine men of the Paducah and Fulton districts.

Master Mechanic J. F. Walker and Traveling Engineer B. J. Feeney left early this morning for Louisville on business.

Frank Theobald, chief clerk in the master mechanic's office at East St. Louis, was in the city yesterday.

Harry Savage, of the paint department, has returned from Chicago after a visit to relatives.

He Had Done Enough.
"Fellow-citizens," said the candidate, "I have fought against the Indians. I have often had no bed but the battlefield and no canopy but the sky. I have marched over the frozen ground till every step has been marked with blood."

His story told well till a dried-up looking voter came to the front.

HOW TO JUDGE DISTANCES.

Amusements That Afford Patrons Education as to Space and Speed.

If you devote your Saturdays to golfing, shooting or taking photographs you have in all probability met the problem of judging distances.

Bear in mind these few simple rules and your difficulty will be lessened. With the naked eye, if you have average sight, you can see the whites of people's eyes at 30 yards; at 80 yards you can just see their eyes. When all parts of their body are distinguishable they are 100 yards away; when the outlines of their faces are just visible the distance is 200 yards, and when a face appears as a separate dot you should be 400 yards away. Six hundred yards away a group of people can be distinguished singly, but at a further distance than this no detail of the human form can be determined. Yet at 1,200 yards you should be able to tell a man on horseback from a man on foot; at 2,000 yards he is simply a dot on the landscape.

The majority of people, too, are unable to determine the wind's velocity. When the smoke from a chimney moves in a straight vertical column it means that a one to two miles an hour breeze is blowing. A three miles an hour wind will stir the leaves on the trees. Twenty-five miles an hour will sway the trunks; at forty miles an hour the small branches will break, and it takes a mile-a-minute gale to snap the trunks of big trees.—London Answers.

If at first you don't succeed, try from some other direction.

WEILLES WIN

THEY TAKE TWO GAMES IN ONE DAY.

Defeat La Center 11 to 10 and Defeat Kevill 3 to 2.

Two games were won yesterday by the Weilles at Kevill, when the LaCenter team was defeated by a score of 11 to 10, while in the second game the strong Kevill team was defeated by a score of 3 to 2. The first game was a slugging match in which the Weilles excelled. Switzer started in the box in the first frame, but after pitching four innings he was hit and was compelled to leave. Hanners, succeeding him, and doing good ball. The features of the game was the batting of Wagner, and J. Fuller, who lined out triples and stole home.

In the second game some neat hitting was necessary to win. The team suffered its first defeat when Kevill defeated the Weilles. Hanners pitched steadily for the Weilles, while Martin, Kevill, twirled a good game, but the support to win. The Weilles' hits came at opportune moments. Eblen pitched for LaCenter, and was hit hard, although good fielding saved him from defeat by a large score.

The Weilles lined up: Wagner, catcher; Switzer and Hanners, pitchers; Evans, first base; Gourieux, second base; C. Gourieux, third base; B. Merritt, short stop; R. Sneed, left field; J. Fuller, center field, and C. Schuler, right field.

Next Sunday it is probable that the Weilles will play the Golconda, Ill., team.

Crippledhips told.

Owing to the bad condition of the baseball diamond at Benton yesterday day the Crippledhips did not play the Benton team yesterday. The Benton manager telephoned yesterday morning that it would be impossible to play the game. It is probable that a game will be arranged later in the season.

Hooks Lose.

By the score of 1 to 0 the B. B. Hooks were defeated by the crack Mounds team at Mounds, Ill., yesterday. Lee Hart twirled in grand style for the Hooks, and not a score was made until the ninth inning, when the Mounds players won the game. The Hooks secured a single hit, while Hart was touched up for only three safe raps.

MEMORIAL HELD FOR THEIR DEAD

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS AND MODERN WOODMEN.

Former Present Ritualistic Service in Fountain Avenue Methodist Church.

THE LATTER GO TO OAK GROVE

The annual memorial services of the Knights of Pythias lodge were held at the Fountain Avenue M. E. church Sunday evening. A large attendance of members of the order augmented the regular congregation and the church was well crowded. Special music was furnished by the church orchestra and a male quartet. A violin solo by Mr. Robert Pierce was the offertory, following the invocation and announcement of church services.

The memorial services of the order of K. of P. were carried out in detail, with Mr. A. E. Stein, who delivered the Pythian tribute in honor of deceased members, presiding. Mr. A. E. Young read the roll of the dead, as follows: Gus Clark, L. D. Caldwell, James A. Bryan, Joe A. Bryant, John L. Powell, W. A. Gilliam, E. B. Jones, Andy Well, Jr., G. P. Robinson, Ed Gleichman, A. L. Well, C. J. Wilson, Harry Wheeler, J. M. Bunker, R. E. Stallings, H. J. Bookhammer, W. H. P. Peiper, Samuel Reeb, W. H. Sandusky.

Mr. A. J. Bamberg, as prelate, offered prayer, and was followed with scripture reading by Mr. V. F. Moore. The memorial ode was sung by the members of the lodge. The sermon was delivered by the pastor, the Rev. G. W. Banks and was along the line of man's immortality. He stated that the average life of man was sufficient to only develop a start in the accomplishment of divine purpose. A chemist, for instance, mastered one branch of four in 60 years; and how many chemists live 249 years? Man is immortal from the fact that God is immortal, and there is bound to be a life beyond. He showed the wisdom of God by the comparisons of the creation of the eagle to utilize the vast area of space; the invention of the great iron-clad vessels to correspond to the limitless depths of water in the oceans. He asserted that man was too great to die, and closed with the expressed thought that the brothers who had gone before were not dead, but sleeping.

The beautiful custom of the order, that of depositing myrtle in honor of the deceased, was carried out, accompanied with ritualistic ceremonies. A large wreath of evergreen, typical of sincere and lasting friendship, and a white calla lily, emblematic of purity, were the offerings. While the members of the order were depositing the sprigs of myrtle, Mrs. Edgar Lyle sang "Rock of Ages," impressively.

The services ended with a closing song and pronouncing of the benediction.

Modern Woodmen.

Memorial services were held yesterday by the Modern Woodmen of America, and the graves of the departed members at Oak Grove cemetery were decorated. Several hundred people were present despite the cloudy sky. Headed by Deal's band, the members left the lodge room at the Three Links building and marched to the Fountain Avenue Methodist church, where the pastor, the Rev. G. W. Banks, delivered an address. At the church the members were met by the members of the auxiliaries, the Arnold and Hiawatha camps, and they marched to the cemetery, where the ritual exercises were held.

The lodge members and Royal Neighbors met at the hall at the Three Links building yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The Woodmen marching in a body directly to the church. The ladies took cars and upon their arrival the services began. Mr. A. J. Bamberg, local counsel, presiding. The services opened with a song, "Nearer My God to Thee," followed by a song, "Going Down the Valley One by One," given by the male quartet, composed of Messrs. J. W. Skelton, A. J. Bamberg, Charles Lassiter and Obie Simmons.

The memorial address was delivered by the pastor, the Rev. G. W. Banks, after which the lodge marched in a body to Oak Grove cemetery, where the ritualistic program was carried out. The graves of the departed brothers were beautifully decorated with flowers. Deceased members of the lodge in the past year are Mr. Henry H. Worley, of the M. W. of A., and Mrs. Armada Bonds, wife of Joel Bonds, of the Royal Neighbors. The lodge disbanded at the cemetery and returned home.

Especially mention is deserved by the orchestra at the Fountain Avenue church, led by Mr. Robert Pierce.

CHILDREN'S DAY

EXERCISES HELD AT THE CITY CHURCHES.

At Kentucky Avenue Presbyterian and Tenth Street Christian.

Children's Day exercises will be held by most all of the Paducah churches next Sunday morning or evening. Yesterday two Sunday schools observed the day, the Kentucky Avenue Presbyterian church carrying out its program at the morning hour in place of the regular service. Special songs were sung by the children and there was no fixed program. The pastor, the Rev. E. B. Landis, talked with the children on the subject of "Vacation," which they are about to enjoy for the summer months.

Last evening at the Tenth Street Christian church the annual Children's Day exercises were carried out and were well received by a packed house. The children were dressed appropriate for the occasion, the entire Sunday school taking part. They were well drilled under the direction of the teachers. Following was the program:

1. Organ voluntary.
2. Song, "Brothers and Sisters Across the Sea"—By School.
3. Scripture reading (Matt. 28, 18-20; Mark 16, 15-16)—Fred Suddeth.
4. Prayer—Supt. J. K. Bondurant.
5. Song—Charles Jennings, Jr.
6. Song, "Volunteers to Front"—By School.
7. Recitation, "The New Century"—Clara B. DeLoach.
8. Recitation, "Just Being Happy"—Corena Morgan.
9. Piano Duet—Misses Jessie Whitmer and Opal Lennox.
10. Exercise, "Bright and Shining Lights"—Class of Miss Mabel Roberts.
11. Recitation, "What Have We Done Today"—Helen Darnell.
12. Song, "Valiant Soldiers"—School.
13. Recitation, "A Child's Reflection"—Elizabeth Wheeler.
14. Song, "I Must Tell It"—School.
15. Recitation—Oscar Whitledge.
16. Exercise—Class of Mr. Hazotte.
17. Exercise—Mrs. Jennings' class.
18. Offering.
19. Closing song. Doxology.

First Baptist.

There were five additions to the First Baptist church yesterday and last night and one convert was baptized. Both services yesterday were well attended. The Rev. Mr. Dodd left today for Jackson, Tenn., to attend the commencement exercises of Union university.

First Christian.

A packed house greeted the Rev. W. H. Pinkerton, former pastor of the First Christian church at that church yesterday morning. The Rev. Mr. Pinkerton preached an effective sermon on the subject of "Jesus' Capacity to Save." An anthem was sung by the choir and Mr. Richard Scott sang a solo. No service was held last night. Tonight at 7:30 o'clock the official board will meet at 7:30 o'clock in regular monthly session. The Rev. Pinkerton will return to his home at Ghent, Ky., tomorrow night. At the regular prayer meeting Wednesday night the pastor, the Rev. W. A. Fite, will make his third talk of the series, "Women of the Bible." He will discuss Rebecca.

German.

The attendance at the German Lutheran church, on South Fourth street, was large at both services yesterday.

Third Street.

Two good services were held at the Third Street Methodist church yesterday. In the morning the pastor, the Rev. J. B. Pearson, preached on the subject of "Quenching of the Spirit." Last night he preached on the subject of "The Request of the Young Man for His Portion of the Inheritance." Children's Day exercises will be observed next Sunday. This afternoon at 2:30 the Home Mission society met at the church.

First Presbyterian.

A large congregation was present at the First Presbyterian church yesterday morning while last night the church was taxed to its capacity for the baccalaureate sermon to the graduates of the Paducah High school. The regular monthly meeting of the Session will be held at 8 o'clock this evening in the pastor's study. At the prayer services Wednesday evening the Rev. H. W. Burwell will continue his talk in the study of the Lord's Prayer. Next Sunday is communion and the new individual service will be used for the first time. June 19 is Children's Day.

Broadway Methodist.

Services at the Broadway Methodist church yesterday were quite interesting. Splendid congregations greeted the pastor. "Individual Introspection" was the theme of the morning, and "Spiritual Discovery" the subject of evening sermon. The Bible class had present 90 members and several new names added. Next Sunday is Children's day, and great preparations are being made to make the occasion quite interesting. Two applications were taken for church membership, and the singing was spirited and good. John U. Robinson sang the offertory at the evening service.

Church Notes.

The executive committee of the Bible class will meet this evening in the parlor of the Broadway Methodist church at 7:45.

The Protestant Pastors' association will meet tomorrow, 10 a. m., at the Broadway Methodist church in place of the park as heretofore announced. Rev. W. A. Fite will discuss "Qualities of Effective Preaching." The laymen are cordially invited. The co-operation with the Chautauqua directors will be discussed; also the union services in October. A full attendance is requested by the president.

COUNTY TEACHERS

EXAMINATIONS WERE HELD LAST WEEK.

Names of Those Who Successfully Passed Before the Board.

Late Saturday night the county examiners finished grading the papers of the candidates for the county teachers' certificates. The examiners worked hard all day Saturday, and finished the work by lamplight. The examiners are: Mrs. A. Hill, Prof. W. H. Sugg and Superintendent L. W. Pezzer. The successful ones are: Misses Pearl Hendley, Bessie Billington, Eddie Tucker, Addie May King, Irene Scopes, Lorena Gholson, Elizabeth Adams, Bettie Calaban, Ruby Black, Ruth Ross, Happy Adams, Lucile Page, Ellis Starks, Zena Bagwell, Addie M. Burrows, Messrs. W. A. Middleton, C. C. Capes, Carl Edwards, H. H. Schaeffer, T. V. Williams and C. R. Lee.

TAX COLLECTION WILL BEGIN FIRST OF MONTH.

July 1 Sheriff George Houser will begin the collection of state and county taxes. To the majority of the tax payers the later the better, but there are some citizens who have already called at the office and are anxious to pay their taxes. Considerable rivalry exists as to who will receive the honor of receiving the first tax receipt.

Sheriff Houser was delayed several weeks this year in making out his tax bills awaiting the decision of the state board of equalization on the increase of the assessment of the county. Deputy Sheriff George Rouse and Captain Joe Wood, who assisted in making out the city tax bills, are hard at work on the blanks. The bills will be made out this month and the collection will begin July 1.

An Indiana Naturalist.

The wife of a literary man of the Indiana school, who had taken up chicken raising as a side issue, was telling of the poor success she had had with a brood of eleven chickens. They seemed to be doing all right for a few days, she said, and then, one after another, they all died in the coop.

"What did you feed them?" asked the wife of a farmer neighbor. "Feed them?" exclaimed the author's helpmate. "I didn't feed them; I thought a healthy young pullet like that should have milk enough for her chicks."—Everybody's Magazine.

"Wes," said the determined man, "when the waiter resented the smallness of my tip I took the case to the proprietor of the restaurant. 'And what did the proprietor do?' 'He gave the waiter some money out of his own pocket and apologized to him for having such a customer.'"—Washington Star.

Delicate Job.

Hens are now laying eggs by schedule. A scientific farmer who raises poultry for bird fanciers and sells specially bred eggs for special scheme for keeping a record of the ancestry of each egg that is laid.

The various breeds of chickens are segregated in their respective runways, and each nest in each runway is duly numbered. To the leg of each hen is attached a numbered metal ring. A boy watches the hens as they enter the nest to lay their daily eggs, and on a time recorder stamps the hour the egg is laid, the number of the nest and the number of the hen.—System.

The London Economist figures that a four-pound loaf in London costs little more than half what a similar loaf costs in New York.
